Foreword

Welcome to the Monthly presentation organised by the Dissemination Branch of the Central Statistical Office (CSO). The CSO embarks on vigorous information delivery strategy to major stakeholders and the media institutions in order to increase utilisation of statistical products and services. The office produces a number of statistical products in the Economic, Social, Agricultural and Environmental areas. The information collected in these areas may be used for various purposes including policy formulation, planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of programmes and projects.

This Monthly publication is an attempt to provide highlights of CSO's work and how it can help media institutions and the general public to make use of data and information for sustainable national development and decision-making.

I would like to urge our readers and users of statistical information to send to us any comments that may enhance statistical production and contribute to the improvement of this bulletin.

The annual food inflation rate

The annual food inflation rate was recorded at 16.3 percent in February 2009. This is a reduction from 21.3 percent of the food inflation rate recorded in January 2009. Contributing most to the decline in food inflation were reductions in the cost of mealie meal, fish, kapenta and fresh vegetables. Partially offsetting these reductions were increases in the cost of other cereals and cereal products, meat, eggs, dried beans, shelled groundnuts, sugar, tea, coffee and other processed food products.

Non-food inflation

The annual non-food inflation rate stood at 11.7 percent in February 2009, up from 11.1 percent in January 2009.

Zambia Demographic and Health Survey (ZDHS)

About sixty-eight percent of children fully vaccinated

According to the World Health Organization (WHO), a child is considered to be fully vaccinated if he/she has received a BCG vaccination against tuberculosis; three doses of DPT vaccine to prevent diphtheria, pertussis, and tetanus; at least three doses of polio vaccine; and one dose of measles vaccine. These vaccinations should be received during the first year of life.

The 2007 Zambia Demographic and Health Survey (ZDHS) results show that 68 percent of children aged 12-23 months have been fully vaccinated. The results also show that 68 percent of male children were fully vaccinated compared to 67 percent of female children. The results further show that 92 percent of the children received the vaccination against tuberculosis (TB) while 85 percent received vaccination against measles.

Analysis by residence shows that 71 percent of children in urban areas were fully vaccinated compared to 66 percent of those in rural areas. More children in urban areas (95 percent) received vaccination against TB than those in rural areas (91 percent). The proportion of children who were vaccinated against measles was more in Urban areas (89 percent) than that in rural areas (84 percent).

With regard to mothers' education, results show that children born to mothers with no education (60 percent) were less likely to receive all the recommended vaccinations than those born to mothers with secondary or higher education (75 percent).

Percentage of children aged 12-23 months who received specific vaccines at any time before the survey (according to the mother's report), and percentage with a vaccination card seen, by background characteristics, Zambia 2007
